Keep Away From Mellon
How Many This Fourth?
10 Per Cent Call Money
Gang Efficiency

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.
SECRETARY MELLON'S report shows the national debt has been reduced about one billion in the past year. Taxes were out $230,000,000 and the treasury surplus is $398,000,000.

Democrats beginning a presidential campaign with attacks on Mellon are not doing Governor Smith any favor. The wise thing for Democrats would be to say as little about Mellon as possible, and concentrate on the Teapot Dome.

July 4, tomorrow. How many will be killed? As a result of patriotism a year ago tomorrow, fourteen died of lockjaw, caused in every case by blank cartridges.

Germes of lockjaw are on your hands. An exploding firecracker blows the germs into the flesh and they do the rest.

You might mention this to your little boy, and add that George Washington never had a firecracker in his life.

Exciting money market yesterday. Call money went to 10 per cent. Banks called $75,000,000 in loans.

Money was needed for spending over the Fourth of July. Mid-year interest and dividend payments call for a billion dollars.

And besides, the big fellows seeking to discourage stock gambling know that "the way to discourage vice is to make it expensive," hence the ten per cent interest.

Even so, Wall Street operators seemed not discouraged.

Since last September Europe has drawn five hundred millions in gold from this country, reducing that mysterious thing called credit by ten times the amount, or five billions.

Once upon a time this world have meant a money panic. The federal reserve fortunately prevents that.

If gangsters' efficiency could be transferred to some other line of endeavor, they could become useful citizens. That happened in Venice, its swamps first inhabited by fleeing criminals, then built up to a great commercial republic.

Efficient gangdom from Chicago came to New York to show what it can do. Frank Uale, supposed to have helped kill a notorious gangster, was driving his Lincoln coupe along a quiet street in Brooklyn. Another car pulled alongside, filled Uale's head with slugs from a sawed-off shotgun. He crumpled up at the wheel.

Benjamin Kanowitz, retired from bootlegging entirely, so his wife says, went out to fix his car. Other gangsters, there ahead of him, had fixed it their way. When he put his foot on the electric starter a bomb concealed in it exploded, blowing him to pieces. One of his legs was not found. Such is gang efficiency.

William Bullardo tells his story to the police simply. He is 25, his wife was 18. All she wanted was "pleasures, pleasures, pleasures." And "she wanted to Please Turn to Page 16, Column 4.

Smith Leads Straw Vote 2-1

SHOWS BIG SWITCH OF COOLIDGE BACKERS TO DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

All things considered, it is a fair guess that the first day of balloting in the Boston Evening American's straw vote, taken at the United States Hotel, will show a big switch of Coolidge backers to the Democratic nominee, Al Smith.

Today's straw vote was a marked increase in activity at the various polling places.

The significant feature of the straw vote thus far is the swing of former Coolidge voters to Smith. Such switching of preference from one party's candidate to the other is of vital importance in showing the trend of opinion, and this phase should be watched closely as the vote progresses.

To take care of the increasing demands of Boston Evening American readers who want a chance to boost the candidate of their choice, please turn to Page 8, Column 1.

WOMAN 'RELATIVE' OF SUSPECT GIVES CLUE IN MEDFORD KILLING

A reward of $5000 for information leading to arrest and conviction of those who participated in the murder of Patrolman Francis J. Gilleland of Medford was offered today by Middlesex County.

Information supplied by a woman who declares she is a relative of one of the gang responsible for the slaying of the policeman caused State detectives to make a hurried and mysterious trip of investigation today.

This information reached Medford police headquarters by telephone from an adjacent city. It led the authorities to visit the Phillips—Hornsby Brandt and Taylor.

WOMAN DYING, MOTHER BURNED IN LAMP BLAST

One woman is dying and her mother is in a serious condition following the explosion of a ceiling lamp shade at the home of Mrs. Rose Roach, Rowland st., Mattapan, early today.

Miss Ethel Roach, 35, a Boston stenographer, was most seriously burned about the face and body, she was ordered to the Mary Alice Hospital by Dr. Franklin Brown, where her name was placed on the danger list.

Mrs. Roach suffered burns as she attempted to heat out the flames that enveloped her daughter. The timely arrival of Roy Dennis, a neighbor, saved the lives of both with his quick action in rolling them in rugs.

Heat from the electric light bulb is believed to have caused the flame that dropped burning fragments on Miss Roach sitting directly underneath.

MEDFORD POLICE SLAYERS SOUGHT ON FINGERPRINT CLUE

ARRESTS TO BE MADE SOON

A study of fingerprints is reported to have revealed further facts to the investigators and provided them with another, promising clue. Medford residents are responding with marked generosity to the need of the widow and children of the slain officer.

Before a fund was officially started today by the Medford Trust Company and Medford Daily Mercury, acting together, contributions totaling several hundred dollars were received.

Accompanied by Police Chief Welch, Detective Sherlock and O'Neil slipped away from Medford headquarters and kept their destination secret even from other Medford policemen, who are engaged on various other angles of the hunt for the slayers of their brother officer.

The woman who telephoned informed the police that she was positive a relative was involved in the crime and she described him as "a model young man who got into bad company."

She said she advised him to make a clean breast of his connection with the killing and added that she

AIR MEMORIAL TOWER PLANS PRESENTED

A preliminary plan for the Memorial Tower to be erected at the Boston Airport in honor of fallen air forces, Amelia Earhart and famous airmen of Boston, was presented to Governor Fuller, honorary chairman of the Earhart Foundation Committee today.

The memorial, to be erected through the efforts of the Cross-Country Club, A. L. Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Chapter of the American Aeronautical Association, will be a structure as well as an ornamental, and it is expected will serve as a model of airport building architecture.

In addition to Miss Earhart and the airmen who have since died in the cause of aviation in war and peace, it will honor Boston's two foremost birdmen, Comdr. Richard E. Byrd and Lieut. Albert F. Hegenberger.

The architect, Danmore, Le Clear & Robbins, have drawn up a plan which calls for an edifice four stories in height, surmounted by a powerful beacon which will be seen for miles. The structure, which will be approximately 77 feet high, from ground elevation to the beacon.

The ground floor is to be 15 feet high, and will serve the purpose of a memorial room in which will be placed tablets commemorating the deeds of World War fliers, transatlantic fliers and all who have aided in the advancement of aviation.

The second floor will be 14 feet in height, and the third floor 14 feet in height. Both the second and third floors will be used as a control and observation compartment, affording a complete view of the surrounding territory.

Surrounding the ground floor is to be a balcony with four flights of stairs, a short run of steps leading to the wide doors of the memorial room, over which will be the dedication inscription.

Among the many sponsoring letters and telegrams received at the committee's headquarters was a lengthy communication from Comdr. Byrd.

He said the project was not only admirable in that it paid tribute to Miss Earhart and fallen air heroes, but that it also was something which Boston needed as one of the steps towards making it the great airport that its strategic location permits.

Slain Cop's Baby Will Shoot Firecrackers

By FRANCES L. BAIRD.
 Patrolman Francis J. Gilleland is sleeping today in the darkened parlor of his mother's home in Garfield ave., Medford, where Sunday night he was shot by his fellow-sleuths the last long sleep.

It is all so simple to Doris, his five-year-old daughter, who has all ways looked forward to the alternate nights when Daddy slept at home until he went on duty at 1 a. m. She always climbed gleefully to bed with him and slept with one chubby arm around his neck.

Today Daddy lies in a narrow black box and Doris is not even aware of the great change that has robbed her forever of Zerk with her adoring father.

"Thank God, she is too young to realize it," her mother cried. "I shall let her go away somewhere and shoot the firecrackers he promised her the last thing before he went to his death."

Doris slept at her Grandmother Letwin's in Enfield, and played with her baby cousin, Marvin, until she was so tired she did not miss her father until the Sandman carried her off.

The other daughter of the slain patrolman is with an aunt, while her cousins are with other relatives. When the body was taken to the family home today his mother and wife were almost prostrated with the shock of beholding his features stilled in death.

"I have the great comfort of looking back over 10 years of almost perfect married life, but it is terrible to try to imagine a future without him," said Mrs. Gilleland sadly.

STARTS RELIEF FUND FOR MRS. GILLELAND

A relief fund for the benefit of Mrs. Mildred Gilleland, widow of the slain Medford policeman, and his two children, was formally started today after citizens manifested a spontaneous desire to contribute.

Before the fund was announced, contributions amounting to several hundred dollars were received and scores of other persons had telephoned to Medford city officials, expressing an intention of aiding the Gilleland family if an opportunity was provided.

Out of the advance contributions, five crisp $20 bills were sent to Mrs. Gilleland today and she expressed her deep gratitude, explaining that she was without any means of keeping her family together.

A letter from Medford Edwin T. McKnight of the Medford Trust Company accompanied the donation, and in this he expressed his sympathy and explained the source of the gift.

The Medford Trust Company gave $10 to the fund, Medford Lodge of Elks contributed $20 and the crew of Engine 4 of the Medford fire department donated $25.

HERE'S CHANCE TO WIN MOVIE CONTRACT

Attention, kiddies! Do you want to go into the movie-become a movie actor? If so, here is the chance of a lifetime for you. The Boston Evening American, in conjunction with Loew's Orpheum Theater is going to send one child to Hollywood, Cal. at a salary of $100 a week for three months, and all expenses of the parents to and from California, in one of the most novel contests ever conducted. You've all seen or heard of "Our Gang" comedies, which are unquestionably among the best laugh producers in filmland today. Of course you are familiar with the leading characters in these winning comedies—"Wheeler," "Jean Darling," "Freckles," "Joe Cobb," the fat boy, "Mary," and last, but not least, smiling Fatty. Do you think you look like any one of them? If so, here's your chance.

TO HOLD SIX FINALS

Send your picture in to the Our Gang Movie Contest Editor of the Boston Evening American, with your full name, age, complete address, and the name of the member of "Our Gang" you think you look like. That's all you have to do to begin with.

Toward the end of the contest there will be six "finals" on the stage of Loew's Orpheum Theater. The first night all kiddies competing who think they look like "Wheeler" will appear, and the committee of judges will select the winner. Turn to Page 4, Column 3.

WOMAN AND DOG FIGHT COPS IN LEOMINSTER

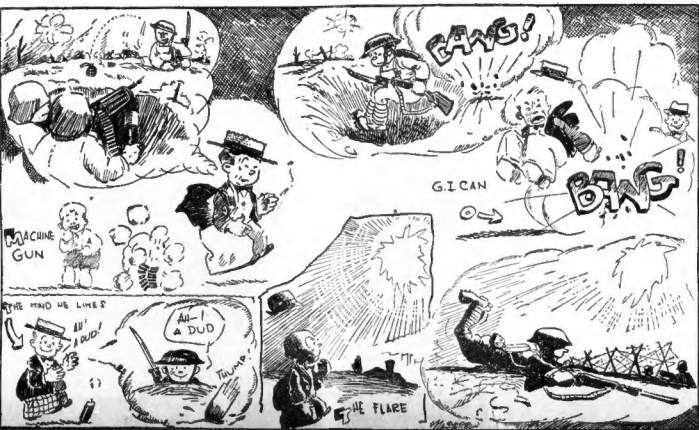

Leominster, July 2.—Barred into her stately old home at 301 Main st., Miss Estlin B. Marshall, 44, society leader, with the aid of her pet collie, defied for more than half an hour attempts of police to arrest her on the charge of larceny of an automobile. It was not until the police had broken down the front door and one of the officers had beaten the collie, insensible with a chair that Miss Marshall was formally placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters. She was arraigned on the automobile charge, pleaded not guilty and was held in $200 for hearing Saturday. Following the session, she denied to newspapermen that she took the car without authority. She asserted she is owner of the car but that she was sold without her sanction while she was in a hospital. Miss Marshall's arrest was made on complaint of Robert Green, manager of a chain store at 123 Charles st., Fitchburg. Green charges that on Saturday night Miss Marshall got into his machine, parked outside the store, and drove off. Police later recovered the auto in Leominster, near the home of Miss Marshall, they charge. Bearing the warrant sworn out by Green, Patrolman James B. Moran went to the Marshall home, one of the fine old residences in this city and one in which the Marshall family, prominent here for several generations, has long owned. BARE SECRET OF POWER TRUST PROPAGANDA

By M. L. RAMSAY.

Washington, July 3 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission has stripped the mask from nationwide propaganda of the so-called power trust, revealing admitted deception of the public and perverted use of millions of dollars worth of newspaper advertising.

Secret reports of propaganda meetings seized from the files of the Wisconsin Public Utilities Information Bureau, disclosed, held statements that the whole purpose of their organized baiting in "power trusts."

Outlets for advertising were declared designed to avert "trouble" with the newspapers, making it clear that had attacked readers by public utilities and the quality of service.

CLASHES AT HEARING.

Although these and other statements were made in large part at national meetings, the reports had not been found in a score of other propaganda bureaus whose files were examined earlier. They were produced in the midst of lively testimony, marked by frequent clashes, given by Arthur Frank Herwig of Milwaukee, Wisconsin bureau director.

Herwig, former reporter, editor, dramatic and music critic and secretary of the Milwaukee Public Utilities Commission, admitted authoring in preparation of two textbooks on public utilities by University of Wisconsin professors.

PREPARING TEXTBOOK.

Herwig himself encouraged the preparation of "Public Utilities Economics" by Prof. Martin Gleaser, according to his testimony. This book has since been widely promoted over the country by the power interest.

Herwig told Gleaser such a book was needed, and that "the story of regulation had not been told in the text," adding:

"I told him I thought he had a very good future in developing such a book."

"He sent me one or two chapters; asked me to read them over to see if he had the latest facts in them."

Herwig then sent two sections of the book to W. R. McGovern, president of the Wisconsin Telephone Company. From this point on his testimony about the book was vague.

CHARGES SUGGESTED.

"Mr. McGovern made some comments," Chief Counsel Robert L. Healy asked.

"Did you pass them on to Mr. Gleaser?"

"Yes, sir."

"I may have; I'm not sure."

"Was any change made in the book as a result?"

"None that I know of."

Later Healy put into the record a letter from McGovern to Herwig, stating that certain references to "the book" do not in any way detract from the value of the text, and which might very easily be corrected by the uninformed reader.

These references, we believe, should be deleted entirely and we call me by telephone after you have received this."

Herwig denied all knowledge of any solicitation of the book was finished.

POLISH ARMENIAN SET FOR TOP TO AMERICA

Le Bourget, France, July 3 (AP)—The first attempt of this year to fly from France to America has been set for 8 a. m. tomorrow.

If the wind is favorable the Polish flyer, Capt. Franciszka, and his plane will take off then in the March 1918 flight on the transatlantic voyage.

Test flights have been completed and the gasoline tanks filled to half capacity. Two armor cuts were placed in a military liner to half weight before the take-off.

Their plane is an Anson machine with a 600-horsepower Levaire motor. It was estimated that gas for the sufficient for a nonstop flight of 6,000 miles could be carried.

Horta, island of Pylai, Ancon, July 3 (AP)—A small plane, which is delaying the transatlantic flight of Capt. Franciszka, arrived here from Lisbon en route to America, and the pilot, who is the proprietor of the gas station of the radio set, is a sergeant, Fred Pierce, mechanic, made a substitute use of brass, a piece of other blade was of aluminum, the unequal weight caused severe vibration. This will have to be over come before the hop is made.

FRENCH BALLOON WINS

GORDON BENNETT RACE

Paris, July 3 (AP)—The prize balloon "Blanchard" with Charles Dufour, pilot, and Gordon Bennett, co-pilot, won the Gordon Bennett balloon race, it is believed.

The "Blanchard" landed at Walnut Cove, N. C., approximately 470 miles from Detroit or 16 miles farther than the distance traveled by the balloon piloted by Capt. W. E. Kenner. All of the 13 racing balloons which left Ford airport Saturday are reported down. Dufour and Corrier landed in a calm after rubber cut.

My dear Mr. Brown:

Your letter of March 5, pertaining to the public utility commission at Kansas City, has been received. Mr. W. J. Barlow of St. Louis also occupied the meeting to me.

I feel that I am glad to accept your invitation to the public utility commission at Kansas City, and to the college and university. And I believe that the promotion will bring about a desired result.

I appreciate the fact that my expenses will be paid. But I am sure you expect to see this kind of payment as my duty happens to be limited at this time.

Very sincerely yours,
E. Barker

Selfishness on Road Rapped by Goodwin

By FRANK A. GOODWIN

Highway Safety Editor Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts

"SLOW DOWN!"

That's the slogan of the city of Medford and it is an excellent one.

Other communities ought to follow Medford's example and post and about the warning until it rings in the ears of every motorist.

In Monday's article I said SPEED is the major cause for motor accidents. Another cause is SELFISHNESS.

The driver who thinks he is the only one on the road and who has an utter disregard for the rights of others, creates the menace of selfishness.

He wants to flash past every body. He cuts in with footbrakes on congested highways.

He shoots to the head of the line on roads obstructed by repairs.

He is the arrogant attitude of one who is supreme until he is overtaken in a hazardous emergency or sends some innocent victim home.

Let such headstrong, selfish drivers heed the slogan "SLOW DOWN!" before it is too late.

John A. Molloy of 81 Pigwacket rd., Medford, is a member of the committee on safety in the city of Medford. He has given much study and has come to the conclusion that standard signals and a national committee to safeguard the highways of the country.

It is very gratifying," writes Molloy, "to have the latest newspaper interested in highway safety.

The Boston Evening American is performing a public service.

"I am convinced that we will never get anywhere until a national commission is created to deal with the needless slaughter that is daily mounting in this country."

"I believe that there is far more reason for a national commission to deal with the needless slaughter than the enforcement of the 18th amendment, although that legislation has accomplished a vast amount of good for all of our citizens."

"Please inaugurate a movement calling for each state to nominate a special committee of three to meet to Washington to convene and establish recommendations for laws and regulations which will have in view the elimination, in so far as it is humanly possible, of the main causes of highway accidents or fatalities."

"We need are laws which will be as binding in one state as in another, and the establishment of warning signals and lighted signals standard in every state, and not the hodgepodge of signals which confuse and confuse rather than aid. Let us have uniformity in signals and laws so that the motorist will understand the meaning of the signals in every part of the country in which he may find himself."

AUTO RAID NETS 100 OFFENDERS

More than 100 motorists paid visits to East Cambridge police station today following a safety drive in the Northern Artery near the Cambridge-Somerville line.

A squad of officers under Sgt. Patrick J. Healy conducted the "raid" on the drivers, they deemed driving without due care.

Offenders were allowed to go with a warning, while those who refused the advice in previous days appeared again today will be hauled into the station.

Willys who is determined to end the "raid" on drivers on the highway is very gratifying," writes Molloy, "to have the latest newspaper interested in highway safety.

"I believe that there is far more reason for a national commission to deal with the needless slaughter than the enforcement of the 18th amendment, although that legislation has accomplished a vast amount of good for all of our citizens."

"Please inaugurate a movement calling for each state to nominate a special committee of three to meet to Washington to convene and establish recommendations for laws and regulations which will have in view the elimination, in so far as it is humanly possible, of the main causes of highway accidents or fatalities."

"We need are laws which will be as binding in one state as in another, and the establishment of warning signals and lighted signals standard in every state, and not the hodgepodge of signals which confuse and confuse rather than aid. Let us have uniformity in signals and laws so that the motorist will understand the meaning of the signals in every part of the country in which he may find himself."

WILLYS-KNIGHT SALES SURPASS 1927 TOTAL

Toldeo, O., July 3 (AP)—Sales figures announced today by officials of Willys-Knight, Inc., reveal that more Willys-Knight automobiles were shipped in the first six months of 1928 than in the entire 12 months of 1927.

Slightly more than 200,000 cars were marketed, exceeding the entire output of 171,742 cars for 1927 by a wide margin. For 1928, plans to build the largest June in the history of the company, 1928, and to build more than the combined total for June of 1927 and June, 1927.

N. Y. GANG WAR VICTIM'S HEAD IS BLOWN OFF

New York, July 3 (AP)—The gang war that has hit New York since the murder of Alvin Karpis, the body of a well-dressed man, about 25 years old, was found in a vacant lot in Brooklyn. He had been nearly blown off by a single charge and the chest was filled with bullets.

Banker's Son Trails Self Through Last Year

Low Angeles, Cal., July 3 (AP)—Alfred Willis Moran, son of Edward Moran, Washington banker, and nephew of W. H. Moran, U. S. secret service chief, was "hucklebuckin'" today in an effort to discover where he has been doing and what he has been doing for a year.

After a memory lapse for more than a year, Moran suddenly remembered last week who he was. He believes his lapse of memory was caused when he was slugged by a bandit in New York.

He says he has not the slightest remembrance of coming to Los Angeles. His hands are calloused, indicating he has worked at manual labor.

He was to be taken to San Francisco today.

It's Brown Derby Time

New York, July 3 (AP)—Moran here are smoking up with brown derbies. Why? Ask Mr. Smith; he knows.

4 Million Left Nurse by Mother of War Vet

Los Angeles, July 9.—A mother's gratitude for the care given her soldier son by a World War nurse was revealed here today in the announcement of the nurse that she had been bequeathed nearly $1,000,000 by the mother.

In the early days of the war, Edna Irving nursed back to health a young British officer in the base hospital at Boulogne, France. Capt. Maxwell Woodlynns was one of the many she cared for daily.

The nurse, who went overseas from a little Canadian town, said she had received word from a firm of London attorneys that her name was set down in the will of the officer's mother, Mrs. Julia Woodlynns, for a bequest of 750,000 pounds—the officer's mother, Mrs. Julia

SMITH LEAVING HOOVER IN STRAW BALLOT BY TWO TO ONE

Real Australian Kiss

Features New York's Welcome

To North Pole Flier

NOT GIGS BUT TWO TO ONE

their favorites, an additional polling place was opened today at the Boston, Bremer Beach & Lynn Railroad station, Bremer Beach, Atlantic ave. The results of first day tabulations, while showing Al Smith running far ahead of Hoover, showed he was not as strong in Precinct 3, the North Station location, where Smith led Hoover by only 53 votes.

The switch from President Coolidge to Al Smith showed a total of 219 and from Davis to Hoover 16. A great number of voters simply voted for Al Smith, without voting for the president.

The next high spot was Precinct Two, South Station. Hoover received 153 votes to Smith's 47, a total of 200 votes cast. The changeover was Coolidge to Smith, 153 to 47, and Smith to Hoover, 2. The vote four years ago was according to the tabulation 153 for Smith, 47 for Hoover, and 2 for Davis. This year, however, the vote was 153 for Smith, 47 for Hoover, and 2 for Davis.

BOTH ARE AHEAD
These figures show that Hoover is running ahead of the Coolidge vote of four years ago, by 48 votes and Smith is ahead of the Davis vote by 127 votes.

The interest of every American citizen in the coming national election is reflected in the prompt action of the public to the straw ballot, the first to be conducted in Boston on the Smith-Hoover issue. If not the first in the United States, the nomination was officially designated by the national party convention.

The good faith of these casting ballots is taken for granted because of the importance of the straw vote which is to indicate the attitude of Boston to all the country, as well as to Bostonians themselves and to the new England states, which are to be fought for this year as never before by the opposing forces.

There are two questions for each voter: Who shall he or she vote for in the coming election? And who did he or she vote for in the last election?

The names of both Republican and Democratic candidates are on the card, and the last election is given on the ballot, and all that is necessary for the voter to do is to make a mark. The balloting is secret as far as the identity of the voter is concerned.

Don't cross to sail today.

The steamship Albatross, with 100 boys aboard, will sail from Battery wharf this afternoon for a summer cruise to Europe. The ship was to have left Saturday, but was delayed for repairs to the refrigeration plant.

According to the ship's officers the delay was caused by conditions over which they had no control, and it was necessary to have the ship in proper condition before the boys could start.

The new radio equipment has been taken aboard, the executive officer, who will be in command, will be in command of the ship. The ship will also be loaded on the ship in readiness to leave.

Tonight the ship will be in Provincetown Bay, and it is planned to winter there for a while. The boys have a practical drill in manning the life boats. The ship was to have left Saturday, but was delayed for repairs to the refrigeration plant.

CAPT. SIR GEORGE WILKINS GREETED BY AIR SECRETARY

SALLY'S SHOULDERS & HOLLYWOOD CARE

Does Lilly Finally Marry Town's Richest Man?

LILLY LEXINGTON is the spoiled only child of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS. Lilly has been reared to be thoroughly useless, and her highest ambition is realized when she becomes engaged to STANLEY DEUMMOND, a wealthy bachelor much older than herself.

Lilly starts out to ask SUE CAIN to be her maid-of-honor. Lilly sees a handsome, blue-eyed man looking at her. She feels herself oddly attracted toward him before she notices that he is wearing a driver's uniform and standing beside a taxicab. She starts away from him, then turns, and goes slowly back to him.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER II

LONG afterward Lilly knew exactly why she turned in the street and went back to the taxicab and its driver.

But that afternoon she had no idea why she was doing it. She simply did it—moved by some impulse that pulled her back to it as if it had been a macabre jerked this way and that by slender threads.

With her eyes on the driver's face, she opened the door of the cab and climbed nimbly into it. She dropped down upon the leather cushions.

"Where do you want to go, Miss?" the man asked, and instantly Lilly liked the sound of his voice. It was low and deep, it was the very nicest voice she had ever heard. She felt as if she had been waiting to hear that voice for ever so long—for years and years. It soothed her, and it excited her, too. It stirred her.

She was more excited at that moment than she ever had been before in her life that had been filled with excitement of all kinds.

"Where do I want to go?" she repeated. "Why—where do I want to go?"

As a matter of fact, she did not know anywhere, except to the "Y," a restaurant that was not 2100 N. Broadway, she had come down town to see Sue Cain, and here she was.

"I want to go home," she decided. "Nowhere at. You know where it is?"

The cab jerked and started. Lilly leaned back against the cushions and studied the back of the driver's head—a very well shaped head with its ears pressed flat against it under a stiff-creased cap.

Then, suddenly, she sat forward in her seat.

Just above the "jump seats" was a small pastboard card, and upon it was the driver's photograph. Above it was this legend:

"INDEPENDENT TAXI CO.
Owner-driven Cabs."

And below that was the signature of the driver himself—"Patrick France."

"Pat France—what a lovely name!" said Lilly to herself. "Pat France!" She liked it immensely. It had such a gay, buoyant, cheerful sound. "Pat France," she said, turned down one of the jump seats and pushed open the window behind the driver. If he heard her or saw her, he gave no sign. He looked straight ahead of him at the next street, crowded with automobiles.

"Four or five on a day like this, doesn't it?" she asked presently.

"Yes," he did not turn his head. "I drive my father's car a great deal—and I hate to be out in weather like this," Lilly said, after a long pause.

No answer.

"I should think it would be an exciting life—driving a taxicab," was the next thing she said, her eyes on the man's face.

"What a nice nose he has," she was thinking, as she spoke. She liked the first way his lips came together, too, and the way his black brows jutted out a little over those blue eyes.

If taxi-driving was an exciting life, Patrick France did not say so. He smiled in an indifferent way of way and stepped on the gas.

"If taxi-driving was an exciting life, I'm doing it," thought Lilly. "I'm doing it, and women always talk to good-looking cab drivers and policemen in all probability."

She closed the window, and went to sleep.

DISCOVERY SURPRISES GUARDS

Governor Fuller Signed 52d Brigade Commander's Promotion First

A seething National Guard buzzed with excitement today when it was discovered at the State House that the much-discussed commissions of Brig.-Gens. John D. Murphy and Albert C. Gray show the former ranking officer by one day.

At the time of the appointments, Gray's was requested first by Maj. Gen. Foote, commander of the 25th Division. Gray was assigned to the 31st Brigade.

Some time later the promotion of the then Col. Murphy was asked by Gen. Foote to command of the 31st Brigade.

Ordinarily, members of the guard pointed out, Gen. Gray would become senior over the later appointee but the commissions on file at the adjutant-general's office showed his commission date as May 28, while Gen. Murphy's was signed by Gov. Fuller under date of May 28.

At the governor's office it was announced "no statement was thought necessary on the matter."

Wants Freedom

TO BRING SUIT
Mrs. Marshall Field, 3d, now in Paris, is soon to seek divorce, probably in the courts of this country.

TO GET BIG SUM FROM HUSBAND

Grandson of Chicago Merchant Is Said to Intend to Wed Mrs. Dudley Coates

Paris, July 3.—Society on both sides of the English Channel is burning today with news of an impending divorce of the Marshall Fields, American multi-millionaires, as well known in London and Paris as in Chicago and New York.

Mrs. Marshall Field, the former Evelyn Marshall, is understood to be about to bring action in the United States, although several of her friends advised her to file her suit through the indulgent and expensive French courts.

For several months the grandson of the famous Chicago merchant prince has lived apart from "Evvy," who has returned to her mother in the Marshall house in Grosvenor square, London.

RIGHT PRINCE SETTLEMENT

Conjectures running into eight figures are being freely made as to the size of the settlement Marshall will make on his wife. His father, says Field is disposed to be especially generous because of his intention to remarry as soon as possible after the granting of the divorce.

The very attractive Mrs. Dudley Coates, whose husband died at Cannes last year of his war wounds, is said to be the future Mrs. Fields. Audrey, as she is known in the fashionable parlous of Piccadilly and Mayfair, recently went to America to spend the summer at the Field family shooting box near Hinton, Leicestershire.

The beautiful Mrs. Coates is one of the liveliest members of the gay set, who always surrounds the Prince of Wales. She was formerly a member of the prince's party at Deauville and Biarritz and in the night clubs of Piccadilly.

INTEREST IN HUNTING

Their common interest in hunting brought the Fields and Audrey together in one of the week-ends at the Melton Mowbray fashionable hunting grounds in the north of England. Since then they have been seen frequently together until the Field's recent departure for America.

Several English alliances already have been made in the family of the Chicago millionaire sportsman. A son of the late Lord Darnley, a member of the present scene married Lord Darnley's daughter, the daughter of the present scene married Lord Darnley's daughter, the daughter of the present scene married Lord Darnley's daughter.

RESIDENCE IN ENGLAND

On his spacious 1000-acre island, Field had constructed a faithful replica of his English country house in Leicestershire. Although born in America, the present Marshall Field has lived considerably in England. He was educated at Eton and then at the University of America at the outbreak of the war to enlist as a private. After seeing service in France, he went back to the United States as a captain.

The immense fortune left Field by his father has been considerably augmented by the family fortunes died, he named Marshall and Henry Field, his favorite grandsons, his principal beneficiaries. The late Henry Field will be remembered because of the famous lawsuit brought against his estate by Percy Moore, the actress.

$250,000 INHERITANCE

By the terms of the grandfather's will, $250,000 was to be invested and the total value handed over to the grandsons when they reach the age of 25. It is estimated Marshall Field's share then will amount to $125,000.

Since the Fields are Roman Catholics, religious difficulties may force them to demand an annulment from the Roman Rota before any marriage between Field and Mrs. Coates can be made.

Roll, don't run, if your clothing catches fire.

RAN AWAY FROM DENTIST

QUAILED AT HIS NEEDLE
Ruth Wright, 8, of West Lynn, fled from the Forsyth Dental Infirmary in terror and ran and ran. Hours later she was found crying at the Corp. Burns playground near the River at bridge, and now she's home again.

FULLER IS FIRM NAB MAN AFTER HIT-AND-RUN KILLING

Reluctant his belief that solution of the "L" problem is the most important task before the Legislature, Gov. Fuller today expressed keen interest in the bills reported in the Senate.

The Governor said Joseph Wiggins, his personal counsel, is studying the three measures. While declining to make a premature statement, the Governor revealed that his stand toward the bills is based on the fact that a part of the burden of paying for extra-long hours Governor said.

If the car rider is to pay for the entire expense of extending the highway, hour Governor said.

"Then give the street cars the right of way across Beacon at and Commonwealth ave. and let the automobiles wait until the street cars are not using the road. We would get quickly who is being benefited by that improvement."

Hornsbey After Two More From Phils at Higginson

By NICK FLATLEY

DOESN'T take much to start the spark of baseball hope to blazing.

The riddled Barn, because they have won three games in a row, are now getting under peak at the light ahead. The athletes think they are ready to go somewhere.

The boys do not expect to hop up into the first division, or anything like that. But they do think they can get so far ahead of the lowly Phils that a cellar will never be mentioned after this week.

It wasn't any old fellow's work in taking the Phils out of the cellar in the first place. It was the work of the boys in the field.

Having a few wins in the cellar is a good thing. It shows the boys are in the cellar. It shows the boys are in the cellar.

John Kuck Out for New Shotput Mark

Set expression on his face, hides it for other sprinters. He's a fine fighter, and races right through the tape.

John Hercules Kuck, America's foremost shotputter, holds the world record indoors, and for a short time this spring held the world outdoor record.

Next Saturday at the Harvard Stadium this 200-pound athlete from Wilson, Kansas, will compete in Los Angeles, A. C. colors at the final tryouts for the American Olympic team.

Incidentally, he will arrive in Los Angeles on May 15, and will be in the city for the final tryouts on May 16, 17 and 18.

On May 15, a week after his record-breaking performance, Kuck put the shot 41 feet 10 inches in the world record, but it was found that the shot was one half an ounce light, and so claim was made.

On May 16, a week after his record-breaking performance, Kuck put the shot 41 feet 10 inches in the world record, but it was found that the shot was one half an ounce light, and so claim was made.

Twixt Tee and Cup

By BILL GRIMES

Although there is never any open tournament scheduled, Independence Day is always one of the busiest of the golf season.

Without a known exception, every club holds tournaments and on all courses members will be busy from about daylight to darkness battling through medal play and four-ball matches.

Walter Johnson, professional at the Concord Country Club, has a fine reputation among the women golfers as an instructor. The fair sex are loud in their praise of the Concord pro, who has been responsible for the development of many of the leading players.

The Lathys, Frank and Ann, have departed for the White Mountains. Frank is the professional at Crawford Notch, while Jim is back at Fayama. Constance will hold forth again at Jackson, N. H., which gives the Lathys family a fine representation in the North country.

When the Rockport Country Club membership gets underway, Jimmie O'Leary, who has been carrying away that title with marked regularity, will find it hard to get in his job. Trained with John Hattery, young Pop captured the Boston Country Club institution. He is a product of John Kemper's school.

Nate MacLeod, the hard of Core, Ann, has been shooting the North Shore course in the Top 100 this season after a strenuous winter in his indoor net at East Gloucester, where, resuming to East Gloucester, Nate MacLeod will be the champion of the Gloucester Country Club at Windsor, Vt.

Don Hovan, the former Massachusetts state champion, is spending the summer at North Scituate. His wife is coming along in the clubhouse at East Gloucester, where, resuming to East Gloucester, Nate MacLeod will be the champion of the Gloucester Country Club at Windsor, Vt.

ELKINS HURT AT RIVIERA, IS OUT OF GOLF

Philadelphia, July 3 (AP)—"Chief" Elkins, national decathlon champion and leading United States athlete in that event for the Olympic team, is out of golf.

Head Coach Lawson Robertson said that Elkins will be lost to the Olympic team.

The microtome to Elkins came with startling suddenness. It was a 11.5 second shot, and Elkins was out of the game.

Short Putts Ought Not Be Conceded

By MIRIAM BURNS HORN

National Golf Champion

In my opinion, the conceding of short putts is a ridiculous custom and it's fair to yourself or your opponent.

It is taking for granted something that might not be. The shorter the putt, the more simple and sure it seems, the easier it is to miss it.

One is far more likely to be careless with a 12-inch putt than with one of two feet, and still more parsimonious with a putt of three feet.

Yet longer putts are rarely conceded.

They tell an interesting story about a prominent golfer who was playing a round with a notable success.
